LCI purchases new Airbus and Boeing aircraft

2 February, 2009 – LCI has purchased 12 new Airbus and Boeing aircraft to enhance its fleet. The latest additions to the portfolio comprise 11 Airbus A330-300s and a further Boeing 777-300. The fleet has been increasing rapidly in recent months and this further acquisition boosts LCI's reputation for swift transaction management and asset finance capability along with its standing in the market as a reliable lessor with quality aircraft.

"This is a further phase in our portfolio renewal strategy," commented Crispin Maunder, CEO of LCI. "The aircraft will go immediately into operating leases with leading airlines such as Singapore Airlines and Air France on international routes."
