

Archipel Mansion: Aria Hotels' new addition in Santorini

-Historic Archipel Mansion located in Fira, Santorini, is the latest arrival in the Aria Hotels collection

Athens, January 30th 2018: The Aria Hotels collection of boutique hotels and independent residences has expanded its presence on Santorini with the addition of the Archipel Mansion, situated at the highest point of Fira, the island's capital.

The luxury property comprises the main mansion building, as well as a separate studio, each with their own private entrance. The four charming bedrooms can accommodate eight guests in total. Three double bedrooms are in the main house with a further double in the studio. Main features of the elegant mansion include its magical view across the world-famous Caldera basin and the many indoor and outdoor areas which give varied opportunities for peace and relaxation.

Archipel Mansion boasts a particularly rich history that dates back to the 18th century. It has been rebuilt in line with the architectural principles of the neoclassical palazzo, popular amongst the elite residents of the island during the 19th century. The handsome and impressive property features bold, stout walls along with imposing domes. Decorated with modern artworks which complement the family relics and heraldry, it achieves striking balance between past and present.

Ideal for travellers looking to experience authentic Greek hospitality, Archipel Mansion combines privacy with the vibrant social life of the island, located a short ten minutes-walk away from Fira and Firostefani. At Archipel Mansion, Aria Hotels provides a perfect blend of Greek island living: privacy and home comforts amid an authentic example of daily village life.
