London, 20 December 2010: Grace Hotels, the award-winning luxury boutique hotels group, has announced its expansion into Central America following a strategic alliance with F&F Properties, one of Panama City's most prestigious real estate developers. Grace Panama, its first hotel in Central America, will form part of the striking new Twist Tower office and hotel development in Panama City's Obarrio district. The 60 bedroom boutique hotel with two restaurants, business centre, health club and outdoor pool represents the first hospitality collaboration between Grace Hotels and F&F Properties.

This follows the recent announcement of the company's first hotel development in South America, Grace Cafayate, Argentina and its acquisition earlier this month of the historic Vanderbilt Hall in Rhode Island, USA. F&F Properties is the real estate developer responsible for some of the most striking and prestigious properties on the Panama City skyline. Commenting on behalf of F&F Properties, President & CEO Saul Faskha E. stated: "Grace Hotels Group offers a very distinctive personality that we regard as perfect for the modern discerning traveller. Meanwhile the group's industry recognition and awards speak for themselves".

Philippe Requin, CEO of Grace Hotels added: "We are thrilled that our first city centre hotel will occupy F&F Properties' latest creation. Twist Tower is a magnificent example of contemporary urban architecture and will be a perfect environment in which to introduce new audiences to the Grace experience. The tower itself will be home to numerous businesses that will be able to benefit from our comprehensive business services. Meanwhile the health club and pool will offer an escape from the bustling city for all guests."
